

CAMBODIA SANITATION PROJECT

All proceeds for this project support a latrine construction project in rural Cambodia that is coordinated in collaboration with a local NGO in Cambodia, Solidarity Fund for Rural Development. Families there are in urgent need of latrines in order to improve the health and hygiene of their rural communities. They receive a donated latrine, and then commit to assist with the digging of the pits and building the simple enclosure. Many on a waiting list are now knowledgeable about the importance of good sanitation, and are excited about the possibility of receiving a latrine in the future. It's for these families that funds are being raised.

Good sanitation is essential for structuring a healthy and vibrant community that can empower it's members to improve their quality of life.
